Cultivate this barren land so that the seed, once sowed, might enjoy the fullness of life

Let the sun symbolize truth; let the bountiful rain quench the thirst of our inquisitive minds;

Let our growth display a commitment to the value of responsibility and freedom.

We are but seeds cast upon the earth, we struggle for the goodness of life.

We ready ourselves for the harvest yet to come.

President James M. Nabrit

President Nabrit has been associated with Howard University since 1936 in the following capacities: Secretary of the University, Professor in the School of Law, Dean of the School of Law, Administrative Assistant to the President and Director of Public Relations. He was elected to the Presidency, July 1, 1960.

He received his undergraduate education from Morehouse College in Atlanta, Georgia and his professional education from Northwestern University.

As a member of the faculty of the School of Law at Howard University, Dr. Nabrit organized the first course in civil rights to be taught in American law schools.

His activities include membership in approximately sixty public service boards, committees and commissions, educational organizations, legal associations, social and religious organizations.

This year President Nabrit is taking a one-year leave of absence to serve as United States Representative to the United Nations Security Council, a post to which he was appointed by President Lyndon B. Johnson.

President Nabrit introduces the 1965 commencement speaker, President Lyndon B. Johnson.

President Nabrit, greets former U.S. President Dwight D. Eisenhower on the latter's arrival on the campus to address the participants in the People-to-People program.

Acting President Stanton L. Wormley

In naming Vice President Wormley as acting president, the University trustees selected a man who has been a member of the Howard faculty since 1938, when he was appointed assistant professor of German. A native of Washington, D.C., where he received his early education, Dr. Wormley holds two degrees from Howard, the Bachelor of Arts (1930) and the Master of Arts in German (1931). He also earned a diploma at the University of Hamburg (Germany) and the Doctor of Philosophy degree in German at Cornell University in 1939.

In August, 1964, Dr. Wormley was named the University's first academic vice president.

Among the honors and awards which Dr. Wormley has received during his career are honorary life membership as a fellow of the American International Academy, the Star and Cross of Academic Honor of the Academic Council and Senate of the American International Academy.

Dr. Wormley and presidential assistant (Col.) James H. Robinson confer on pressing issues.

James H. Robinson, Assistant to the Academic Vice-President, assists that office in discharging its responsibilities.

William Stuart Nelson, Vice President for Special Project, has primary responsibility for the Centennial Celebration and other significant special projects of the University.

Frederick Stanton, Secretary of the University, is responsible for matters pertaining to official records and functions of the institution as well as coordinating the program of University development and alumni affairs.

Administration

James B. Clarke, Treasurer and Chief Business and Financial Officer, is responsible for coordinating the fiscal and business activities of the University.

Charles H. Thompson, Director of Self-Study Project, is responsible for conducting a general evaluation of the University's programs.

G. L. Washington, Assistant to the President, assists the Office of the President in carrying out the various aspects of the University programs.

Armour J. Blackburn, Dean of Student, is responsible for the coordination and development of programs in the area of student services.

Carl E. Anderson, Associate Dean of Students for Administration and Student Life, assists the Dean of Students in the administration of the area of student services; coordinates programs of student life, financial aid, and graduate placement.

James L. Cary, Associate Dean of Students (M), is responsible for coordinating the housing program for male students, and for programs related to the general welfare of students.

Edna Calhoun, Associate Dean of Students (W), is responsible for coordinating the housing program for female students, and for programs related to the general welfare of female students.

Benny J. Pugh, Acting Director of Student Activities, is responsible for the coordination of Howard's student organizational activities and for the operation of the University center.

Charles A. Lyons, Jr., Director of Admissions, directs the program of admissions for the several schools and colleges of the University.

Wilmer A. Sojourner, Registrar and Director of Recording, is responsible for maintaining official records relating to the students' academic progress and coordinates the registration program.

Ernest E. Goodman, Director of Public Relations, coordinates the public relations program of the University.

Evans E. Crawford, Dean of the Chapel, is responsible for weekly chapel services and coordinates the program of religious life at the institution.

Joseph H. Reason, Director of University Libraries, is responsible for coordinating the library services of the University.

Dorothy B. Ferebee, Director of University Health Service, directs the services which are maintained to safeguard the health of students and to provide them with medical care as needed.

Frédéric P. Watts, Director of University Counseling Service, coordinates the various University-wide counseling services, including major testing programs.

Walter J. Hawkins, Director of Graduate Placement and Career Planning, aids graduates of the University in the process of procuring jobs and assists students in career planning.

Robert W. Wilson, Director of Personnel, is responsible for the procurement and certification of employees for the University.

Noble R. Payton, Director of Alumni Affairs, directs the program of Alumni activities of the University.

Administration

Goldie W. Claiborne, Director of Financial Aid, directs the program of financial assistance to students as it relates to scholarships, loans, and part-time employment.

Caspar L. Harris, Comptroller, is responsible for all disbursements and accounting matters for the University.

Vincent J. Browne, Director of Foreign Scholars Programs, assists in identifying and preparing talented minority students for careers in the Foreign Service.

Ernest J. Wilson, Director of Foreign Student Services, coordinates the program of special services as they pertain to foreign students at the University.

George W. Ward, Director of Physical Plant, directs the program of maintenance and security of the University.

Charles H. Bush, Supervisor of Off-Campus Housing, assists students in locating suitable off-campus accommodations.

George E. Miller, Director of Auxiliary Enterprises, coordinates special operations of the University such as food services, housing maintenance and the bookstore.

Thomas D. Lowe, Purchasing Agent, is responsible for the acquisition of all supplies, materials, equipment, and services for Howard University.

An aggregate of 216 years of service is represented here by eight members of the Howard University faculty and staff who retired June 30. Each of the retirees received a gold engraved watch from Howard's President James M. Nabrit, Jr. (center). They are Lee J. Purnell, professor of electrical engineering, 25 years; Richard R. Anderson, electrical and mechanical foreman, 32 years; Dr. Charles H. Thompson, dean of the Graduate School who has served since 1961 as director of the Self-Study Project, 39 years; Dorothy McKay, associate professor of Social Work, 17 years; Mayme U. Foster, director of the women's residence halls, 15 years; Dr. R. Frank Jones, clinical professor of urology and medical director of Freedmen's Hospital, 35 years; Dr. Rayford W. Logan, professor of history, 27 years; and Dr. Calvin B. LeCompte, associate professor of anesthesiology, 29 years.

Administration

ACADEMICS

Guiding students in the critical and arduous pursuit of truth is the difficult task of the academic deans. They give direction to our academic careers while we study under their influence and administration. Their business is student academic success. They commission faculty members; they regulate policies; they coordinate programs; and set the pace for the amount of progress made by the various colleges of the University.

If the Dean symbolizes the captain; the faculty member represents the navigator; however, we, the students, have the final responsibility at the helm.

COLLEGE OF FINE ARTS

Organized on 1914 as the Conservatory of Music, the Fine Arts College now embraces the departments of Art, Music, and Drama. The aims and purposes of the college are to impart to the students a knowledge of the ideas and institutions of the world of which he is a part, and to arouse within him an awareness of his social responsibilities as an artist; to encourage and promote the highest creativity in art, music, and drama; to train the student in the historical theoretical and performing aspects of music, art, and drama; to demonstrate the unity of the arts and their value in inter-cultural communication; and to provide opportunities for community participation in Fine Arts.

Anyone passing the Fine Arts building during the afternoon will be sure to hear the sweet tones of the voices and instruments of the students practicing on the third floor. The music department is the largest in number of the three departments in the College of Fine Arts. This department which was started in 1914, has sought to produce students whose musical awareness would earn them the best vocational positions in their field. The Fine Arts department of music is also responsible for providing most of the students who are members of the University Choir and the University Band.

Practice is an important part of the piano classes so that students can improve themselves and their techniques.

The recital is the final test for music majors in order to earn their degree.

Fine Arts

The emotions of the musician are expressed through his instrument and his playing. In order to be a good musician he must feel the music and make his instrument speak. Music students strive to achieve with music a way of communication and a means of expression found in no other field of study.

Fine Arts

The choir performs under the direction of Dean Lawson.

Practice is an essential part of the life of any choir member.

Ceramics provides for the creative expression of the art student.

Creating a form with the hands gives the student a greater awareness of form and shape.

Sculpture offers a new medium for the art students.

Painting is an exciting and interesting media and students enjoy its many interesting facets.

Portraits are one of the more difficult types of drawing for art students to grasp, but some do master it as Richelle Guilmerot has.

Art History classes are both informative and interesting when taught by Professor Porter.

Life Sketch is a difficult course and instruction from Mrs. Asher is very welcomed by Pat.

Mr. Levenson explains visual aids to an education class.

Fine Arts

Art education is one of the more versatile majors in the department.

The art department is the busiest department in the Fine Arts building. The art department is a gamet of classes working in every one of the major art medias. Classes are taught in education, ceramics, design, painting, photography, and art history. Though the art department is small, the students enjoy their classes due to the close knit relationship between faculty and student. The experience of working under some of the best known artists in this country give the students an opportunity to enrich and broaden their art experiences.

Sketches play an important role in the artists work.

Fine Arts

Checking the call board, Burous reads a review on a recent play:

The department of drama is one of the most interesting and the youngest departments in the Fine Arts building. The drama department offers degrees in such fields as direction, acting, production, and television production which has been recently added on to the curriculum. Drama not only gives the students a chance to learn how to act but it also teaches them the fundamentals of drama and gives them an insight of the history of drama. Each drama major must participate in a play in order to qualify for their degree. Every drama major is also, by virtue of enrollment, a member of the Howard Players.

LIBERAL ARTS

Liberal Arts

The College of Liberal Arts devotes itself to helping a student evaluate his potential and offers him the opportunity to develop this potential to its maximum. The College offers a wide and varied program in which it seeks to develop in the student traits which characterize a liberally educated person.

The College offers a curricula in twenty-four departments, leading to the Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science degree. A special Honors Program is available for students capable of high quality work.

Independent research problems are pursued by students in the fields of biology, chemistry and botany.

This chemistry experiment seems to be quite puzzling.

Correct use of the microscope is essential in studying the details of tissues and organs.

Liberal Arts

Water relations and mineral nutrition play an important part in plant physiology.

Constant care and supervision are necessary to insure the success of experiments.

Machine processing; basic processor and storage; system, input and output; system design, programming and processing procedures; equipment acquisition and utilization of these along with machine oriented languages; advanced techniques; file processing and sorting; accuracy, control and auditing; feasibility and application studies — all make up an interesting and promising career for those interested — try it!

Liberal Arts

The language laboratory plays an important role in the study of foreign languages.

Students concentrate as recorded lessons are played through their earphones.

The home economics department under the direction of Dr. Flemmie Kittrell offers its pursuers a choice of six curricula. These courses of study are as follows; General Home Economics; Home Economics Education; Foods and Nutrition; Clothing and Textiles; Child Development and Family Relationships, and Urban Extension for work with family urban problems.

Liberal Arts

Recreational guidance is given to the children who participate in the University nursery school.

Liberal Arts

The celestial sphere, telescopes, the earth, time, geographic position, and observational studies are some of the topics covered by the offerings in astronomy, designed to enrich the total curriculum available to students whose interests are primarily cultural, as well as to provide a minor in astronomy.

School of Religion

The Theological Department of Howard University was founded in 1867. It sought to serve the educational needs of clergymen, who though already pastors, had nevertheless only limited advantages of education. Changes in status have occurred over the years, so that the present School of Religion stands as a fully accredited graduate theological school in the midst of the University with a well-educated faculty in six disciplines of theological education: Old Testament, New Testament, Ethics and Society, Church History, Theology, and Religious Education. There are applied areas in preaching, clinical training, audio-visual aids, and urban development. There is a library of nearly 60,000 volumes, increasing yearly.

As a non-denominational seminary, it has an outreach into other disciplines of the University.

COLLEGE OF

SECOND ROW: S. Daniels, D. Golberg, P. Domebsion, R. Tolson, B. Shah, R. Skyes, L. Smith, J. Tucker, J. Johns.

The major purpose of the program of the College is to prepare students for the intelligent practice of pharmacy. The course of instruction and the activities of the program are so designed as to enable students to acquire the educational, pharmaceutical, and scientific background necessary for rendering a highly specialized professional service to the public and to other members of the health professions. Such service may be rendered by graduates not only as community pharmacists, but also as hospital pharmacists, laboratory technicians, and manufactures' representatives to the medical profession.

This year will mark the graduation of the second class under the recently implimented five year program.

Pharmacy

In the College of Pharmacy, the fifth year student may find it necessary to complete a certain amount of field work. This field experience does much in developing a competent individual with respect to dispensing medicine. In some cases, this practical experience which may be performed in a drug store or hospital dispensary, may be credited towards an apprenticeship period which must be completed by an unregistered pharmacist before receiving a state licence.

Sara Kindrick (above) is employed as a part-time pharmacist assistant by the Washington Hospital Center.

Willie Bell receives information on dispensing techniques from the registered pharmacist of the Standard Drug Store chain where he is employed as a part-time pharmacist assistant.

The Social Work training at Howard University began in response to demands of persons employed in the programs of public assistance in Washington, D.C.

Social Work as a profession has grown out of the need of people for help in meeting their problems — both problems arising within the individual and those pressing upon him from his external environment. The curriculum of the School of Social Work has been developed on the premise that professional education for social work is designed to enable the student to acquire a body of knowledge about human behavior and institutions; methods of problem solving in social relationships; and to develop habits of integrating knowledge, thought, and feeling into an effective and efficient means of doing.

Social Work

The School of Social Work was accredited for specialization in social group work, medical social work, psychiatric social work, and school social work. The social worker must be able to use various methods such as case work with individuals, group work with social groups in community centers, research to lay the basis for constructive programs, and social action in connection with steps to secure needed legislation, appropriations, or other community action.

Social Work

Since the field of social work is such a broad one, many and varied situations necessitate the services of the professionally trained social worker. The directed clinical experiences, field work, is carried on in schools, courts, hospitals, agencies, settlement houses and agencies providing recreational facilities. Clinical experience this year included such agencies and institutions as Junior Village, American Red Cross, Child Guidance Clinic, United Planning Organization and many others.

MEDICINE

The College of Medicine, founded and organized in 1868, originally included the medical and pharmacy schools in conjunction with a general teaching hospital. Since then, the college has steadily grown and expanded in faculty, space and instructional facilities. It has provided a sound basic education for a significant number of today's physicians engaged both in practice and research in various parts of the world.

To be built on the site of Washington's Griffith Stadium is a new ultramodern hospital which will make available a greater amount of facilities some of which are still in the process of development by researchers. This edifice will serve as the nucleus of the new Howard University Medical Center, to be also comprised of the Medical and Dental Colleges along with the Schools of Nursing and Pharmacy.

College of Medicine

The first two years contain some clinical instruction, but medical students spend the majority of their time in lectures, demonstrations, conferences, and laboratory work.

Medicine

Obstetrics is an integral part of the medical instruction as it is with the regular physicians practice. The students gain important experience in the application of clinical principles which are so necessary for the introduction of life.

Working with patients in the wards and outpatient clinics of Freedmen's, District of Columbia General, St. Elizabeth's and V.A. Hospitals is the area of concentration during the second two years.

SCHOOL OF LAW

Howard University's School of Law has greatly increased in size in the last year; from a student enrollment of one hundred and fifty to over three hundred. The school offers one of the most outstanding programs of constitutional law in the country. Instrumental in the growth of this program has been the increasing demand for legal aid in all areas of human rights.

This year the grant by the Ford Foundation has enabled many students to continue pursuing their chosen studies, as well as aiding the School in securing the best qualified instructors.

School of Law

The serious look of deep concentration is reflected in the faces of these Law students.

School of Law

Informal talks become an important part in the preparing of the student in good professional techniques.

J. Kellman, S. Madison, Y. Hodge, B. McKinney, S. Morris, D. Lee, C. DeLugo, I. Spencer, B. Gaines, E. Harris, D. Dudley, D. Dutrieuille, G. Talley, D. Stringfellow.

Established in 1894, Freedmen's Hospital School of Nursing has continuously taken a leading role in community services by providing a program under the direction of its own faculty, and in cooperation with Howard University and other affiliating institutions.

As the trends are changing and the new scientific discoveries and increased educational requirements are now being made for this school to become a new college of Howard University under the baccalaureate degree granting program.

C. Hendricks, I. Brooks, R. Taylor, R. Shaw, S. Woods, C. Sehjang, J. Smith, J. Rosemond, S. Green, R. Willis, S. Smith, R. Montgomery, I. Waddy, R. Avent, P. Scales. (STANDING) L. Guinn, G. Clenace, M.

Under the guidance of Mrs. Ida C. Robinson, the student nurse finds herself in a well-planned program. Before the students arrive the curriculum is set up in a series of meetings and workshops. Though the School of Nursing is not one of the ten schools and colleges that make up the Howard University family, it is a part of the University community. The school of Nursing is based on a three year program which is culminated with the registered nurse certificate.

Exhausting study can be too much at times.

Relaxation is always welcomed to break the monotony.

Counseling is an important part of the nurses day.

Nursing

Practical use of classroom knowledge is needed in the students field work.

Student nurses must be well versed in all phases of medical aid.

College of Dentistry

College of Dentistry

The College of Dentistry's primary objective is to provide comprehensive undergraduate education of such thoroughness that it will insure the public of practitioners of dentistry who will be competent in the prevention and treatment of oral diseases, disorders, and deformities.

To meet this end this year, the college has promoted dynamic research programs involving both basic and clinical studies on the graduate and undergraduate levels. The purpose in this is to improve the quality of dental education, to contribute effectively to the need for postgraduate and refresher courses for practitioners and graduates, and to meet effectively the rapidly expanding demands for graduate education in dentistry.

Practice in specialized techniques is a vital part of dentistry. Students must learn to perfect such technical processes as X-ray analization, tooth molding, and handling of complicated machinery. Careful watching as instructors perform basic fundamentals of dental surgery is an important facet of dentistry. Though classes are fatiguing, students find time for quick breaks now and then.

Understanding machinery and how it operates is a necessary element.

Dentistry

Sophomore dentistry techniques class is a highly specialized study of materials and methods. Anesthesiology plays an important role in the dentists daily work. Mastering this process is of utmost importance for the dental student.

Dentistry

Nothing can substitute actual practice of dental procedures. Students put classroom knowledge into action in the colleges dentistry laboratories.

Dental Hygiene

Dental Hygienists act as dental aids. They are responsible for such tasks as training young patients in the proper way to clean and take care of their teeth. The dental hygienists, also, gathers the proper materials, histories and records concerning patients so that proper treatment may be given. Dental hygiene is a prescribed two year course which gives the students the basics of dental education.

STUDENT LIFE

Dress them in a certificate of registration, label them Freshmen, give them their very own week of activity, and color them green. But, don't make it a hopeless shade of green, for new though they are, they learn quickly. Assistance in adjustment appears in the form of the Campus Pal and an annual event called Freshman Week. For the newly arrived resident of the Howard community, it is a time for getting acquainted. No one is permitted to remain idle. All are kept busy attending and enjoying such events as the picnic on the main campus, the dance in the parking lot behind the Fine Arts Building, and the boat ride down the Potomac. Of course, all is not fun and games, Freshman Week also has a serious side. Trunks, footlockers, and suitcases must be unloaded and stored; tests must be taken; adjustments to faculty, administration and fellow students must be made; and finally classes, which come from the maze of registration. At the end of the week, they are still freshmen, but a little less new, a little more secure; color them growing.

Freshman Week

At Baldwin Hall the Freshmen had their first informal contact with the administration and faculty. The freshmen strolled casually but inquisitively from one table to another speaking with the various administrators and the faculty on topics concerning every imaginative phase of school life.

Reception

Goodies, goodies and more goodies are what the Freshmen seemed to be saying as they stuffed themselves at the annual freshman picnic. It was a grand day as the freshmen gathered for their first big event of Freshman Week. The picnic was held on the main campus with the Campus Pals acting as hosts. The evening was warm and spirits were high which made the event a very successful one.

Picnic

Boat Ride

One of the most exciting and enjoyable events during Freshman Week was the boat ride. The boat ride, which took place Saturday night, gave all who attended a pleasant cruise down the Potomac River. There was plenty of dancing, eating, and singing as Freshmen viewed the city, which was to be their home for the next four years, at night. There was a certain sadness in the air, though, as many of the Freshmen looked at the lights of Washington. Some were thinking of home, which in some cases was across the ocean; some were thinking of the hard days to follow; some were wondering what pleasures and hardships they would deal with while at Howard; but all were sorry that Freshman Week, their very own week, was quickly drawing to a close.

Registration

Registration

When you speak of September, you speak of registration and no matter what you say about it, the fact is that it is the beginning of higher education. The noise, the lines, the confusion, and the mistakes, signal, "go" to the collegian. The mind begins to crank up again after the vacations leisure. Crank up it has to, if the students want to get in class. "Physics closed — what can I take in its place?" "Should I take beginner or intermediate swimming?" The logical mind seeks the logical answer to registration problems. However, most of all, it seeks an end to this excruciating beginning. With registration over, there is the automatic sigh of relief associated with most battles. Another semester, another registration — gasp!

One of the most convenient and most frequented places on Howard's campus is the University Bookstore. This non-profit enterprise, located in the basement of the Law School, is operated solely for the benefit and enjoyment of the student body. All campus texts may be purchased here as well as any supplies the student may need during the semester. It is interesting to note also that the Bookstore carries many articles to compliment necessity and convenience. These range in diversity from the Howard bookbag to contemporary get-well cards. It is no wonder this establishment ranks so high in popularity for it serves as an indispensable part of Howard student life.

Homecoming

Campaign

Each year the Homecoming activities are begun by the election of the Homecoming Queen. These elections are preceded by various demonstrations presented by the students supporting particular candidates for Homecoming Queen. These demonstrations last for five days and are ended by the actual voting for the queen. Each candidate who meets the university requirements is supported by one of the main active organizations of the University. These groups and other supporters plan a week of skits and rallies to invoke interest in their candidate from the student body in general. These demonstrations usually prove to be both entertaining and helpful.

The stage was set, the mood was elegance, and when the cloud of smoke lifted from the stage of Cramton Auditorium on October 27, 1965 at 8:45 P.M., it was visible to those in the audience that a new queen had been crowned. It was then that the suspense of the Homecoming elections was finally culminated with the announcement of the selection of Miss Charlotte Fleming, a senior majoring in Home Economics. This year, the mood was no less anxious, but the occasion was one unique in splendor. The entire affair had the flavor of a Hollywood opening night. The Queens from the various schools and colleges and the Hosts and Hostesses alike were in formal attire. After the introduction of the Homecoming queen candidates, the Queen's court was presented by the Masters of Ceremonies, Sanford Cloud and John Wynn. Much to the surprise of the audience, Miss Marsha Pippin, Homecoming Queen 1963-1964 and Miss Jacqueline Waters, Homecoming Queen 1964-1965 were in attendance for the ceremony, one that will long be remembered by all for its beauty and sophistication.

Coronation

With a rhythmic cadence, more than fifty units moved along the long and twisting "HIGHWAY TO FANTASY LAND." A record number of high stepping marchers added exciting music and intricate drill maneuvers to the homecoming parade. The multicolored floats, centered around a fairyland theme, brought both splendor and majesty to the parade. The arousing and inspiring music of Howard's band, and the drum and bugle corps enticed many persons to follow the parade from beginning to end.

Parade

Game

This year's Homecoming gridiron classic provided exciting action in a contest in which the Bisons battled their way to a 28-6 victory over the Hampton Pirates. A gala crowd of about 9,000 witnessed the action under blue skies as the Pirates wilted under the pressure of the home team. Coach Tillman Sease, working with a limited squad, watched intently as his proteges stamped to their third consecutive victory on the home field.

The 1966 Homecoming game was the fifty-third meeting between the Howard Bisons and the Hampton Pirates. Hampton leads the series with twenty-six wins to Howard's twenty-five defeats and one tie. In recent years Howard has moved toward equaling the series with three consecutive wins.

Talent Show

The talent show presented the students and their broad array of talents consisting of jazz groups, comedians, various singing groups and dancers. The overwhelming enthusiasm of the crowd made the show a success. The homecoming Variety Show, which is an annual event, was entitled this year "Mother Hubbard's Entertainment Cupboard" providing an excellent subject for the skits. The audience roared with laughter over the skit presented by the men of Omega Psi Phi fraternity, Fairyland, which took top honors in the Greek skit competition. Miss Janice Tillman won first place in the individual category with a vocal solo.

Concert

This year's Homecoming Concert, entitled "Echoes of Soul in Wonderland" featured Miss Aretha Franklin. The concert, which was held in Cramton Auditorium, proved to be quite successful, drawing a crowd of 1,450 people who sat enthralled as Miss Franklin sang her way through wonderland. Miss Franklin, considered the new "Queen of the Blues," exemplified to all who attended the concert why she holds this title. Her warm, emotional and moving voice did, indeed, echo the soul of wonderland.

Homecoming

Leadership Conference

This year's Student Leadership Conference was particularly exciting. Student delegates, representing University-wide organizations, considered many aspects of the controversial theme — "Academic Freedom: The Student and the University". The scenic Arlie Foundation in Warrenton, Virginia, proved most conducive to free and critical inquiry.

The discussion went from the calm to the heated, from the sophisticated to the riotous, and from the objectively rational to the highly emotional, but whichever course they followed they were all aimed at creating a better Howard.

Acting President Stanton Wormley and other important Administrators are questioned by students during the "Hot Seat".

It is here where Students and Administrators meet face to face to discuss issues which are prevalent on Howard's campus with a hope that necessary changes be made.

"Academic Tradition, academic excellence, and an academic community are the basic necessities for academic freedom" is stated by Dr. Banner of the Philosophy department Sunday morning at the Leadership Conference. Dr. Banner sets the mood for serious thought. In his closing statement he said, "Whatever our pursuit is in life, it is ashes and dust unless it has meaning for the freedom of the individual".

Leadership Conference

Leadership Conference

"Words for Thought . . . Thoughts for Action"

The delegates returned to Howard quite "fired up". What happened at Arli had to be communicated to the general student body. Thus, the next week, on Howard's campus, a series of informative rallies were held. There was the climax — the march to Cramton Auditorium — where during a more formal program, the various topics and proposals were presented to an audience of approximately 400 students.

Christmas Week

"When Silver Bells Ring"

"Jingle Bells, Jingle Bells" . . . a group of carolers spread holiday cheer in front of Cook Hall.

The celebration of Christmas Week has become an annual and important affair in Howard student life. Activities planned during this week lend a festive, holiday atmosphere to the campus.

This year's theme was "When Silver Bells Ring".

Christmas Week officially began with the lighting of the University Christmas Tree, and the "Deck the Halls" party in the University Center. All interested students were invited to participate in caroling around the tree and decorating the Center.

Significant events on this year's program included the Children's Party and the Presidents Reception.

The purpose of the Children's Party was to invite underprivileged children of the area to play games, sing and visit with Santa.

The President's Reception gave students a chance to meet and talk informally with Acting President Wormley and other University officials.

Other activities included in the week were the Christmas Dance, Mid-day Activities, Meditation Hour, Movie and a Concert given by the University Choir.

The versatile Howard Marching Band has able musicians majorettes and flag twirlers. The band always gives an enjoyable performance during half-time activities during the football season. Mr. Penn, who is the director of the marching band puts much effort into the make up of each half-time performance. As seen by all who attend the football games, the band members live up to the expectations of their fellow students and their director. Although the band is open to everyone, many feel that the band practices are too strenuous. All ten schools and colleges are well represented in the band this year, and freshmen comprise about two-thirds of the eighty-member band.

The Band maneuvers into formation.

So long to Howard, for a while, as the band boards the plane for Fisk to participate in their homecoming activities.

ROTC

Howard's men in uniform are those who wear the blue of the Air Force and the green of the Army Rotc Cadet Corps. Some of these men are cadet officers striving for commissions upon graduation. Others are just basic cadets completing their mandatory two years. But together, they have something in common, something more than the uniform. Together they add pomp and pageantry to the cadet corps, together they draw people from far and near to watch the mock battles, the drill teams, and the award presentations, together they form one of the finest organizations on this campus, the ROTC CADET CORPS.

ROTC

"I've got the feeling, Oh yeah! It's in my head, Oh yeah!!" That's the language of the Howard University Soul Squad. This organization was formed this year by students who felt that Howard needed a stronger cheering section to stimulate the students and help the cheerleaders. The Soul Squad is sponsored by the Liberal Arts Booster Comm. The Soul Squad is comprised of 225 members. The members of the squad meet once a week to practice old cheers and to compose new ones. Whatever the changes made by the Soul Squad, the result is always soul!!

CHEERLEADERS

Cheerleaders

The Bison cheerleaders returned this year with new members, high spirited objectives, and new uniforms. The objective of the cheerleaders is to increase spectator participation. New, short and lively cheers were introduced to raise the spirit. During the games the girls urge fans to join in fully to cheer the team on to victory. The cheerleaders are headed by Carol Abernathy, a senior in the College of Liberal Arts. The cheering squad performs at each football and basketball game. They also accompany the teams to many of the away games. Their charm and enthusiasm adds strength and spirit to the Howard Bisons.

Hilltop

The official voice of student opinion and campus activities at Howard University is our popular newspaper, The Hilltop. The circulation of this First Class newspaper is well over forty-five hundred issues per week. The success of The Hilltop is made possible by the hard and continuous work of a dedicated staff which largely volunteers its time to keep the student body informed. The quality of reporting and feature writing this year has so improved that The Hilltop is now bidding for an All American rating from the Associated Collegiate Press. Competence has been the watch word of the largest staff of students working for The Hilltop in its history.

To capture the spirit of Howard and portray this spirit on the pages of a yearbook is the purpose of the BISON. True to form, this year's BISON staff worked hard to make the yearbook a true picture of life at Howard. Incorporating cooperation and unity as general policy the staff of the BISON worked long hours to make the 1966 annual the best edition ever. Many additions and modifications are evident in the present BISON and these advancements in journalism stand as proof of the ever-advancing spirit of a progressive staff.

Cultural Series

The Poznan Choir of Poland

The Poznan Choir of Poland was featured in the second program of Howard University's 1965-66 Cultural Series.

The Choir had its beginning around 1450 as a small all-male church chorus in Poznan, Poland. During the following three centuries, the group increased its repertoire, not only with church music, but with the music of the Polish masters, and became an important part of the liturgical tradition of eastern Europe.

After the liberation of Poland, the Choir organized and expanded to its present membership — 50 boys and 25 men. The success of Stuligrosz' group was assured when it won first place at the Polish Music Festival in Warsaw in 1950.

Since 1951 the Choir has toured Europe each year with great success. In 1958 it visited the Soviet Union where it was hailed by audiences already accustomed to great choral singing among their own people. Its initial tour of the United States in 1963 met with such unusual reception that arrangements were made for its current return visit.

Heitor Alimonda was born in Sao Paulo Brazil. A graduate of Sao Paulo school of drama and music, he studied under Tomas Teran in Rio de Janeiro, Bruno Seidhofer, Vienna, Austria, and at the Royal Academy of Music in London, where he graduated in 1960. Mr. Alimonda is also the holder of a certificate on Musical Interpretation of the Brazilian Department of Education, Theory of Music Composition from V. Giannini, New York, and a Certificate of Piano from Olga Samaroff, Philadelphia Conservatory Of Music.

At his Howard concert Mr. Alimonda's interpretation was carefully considered as in the lightening changes of pace and the dynamics which emerged with startling clarity, coupled with his unusually fine technique.

Variety was the keynote of the Robert De Cormier Folk Singers (below) when they appeared at the University in March. Their program included songs from England, Scotland, Ireland, Norway, Russia, Poland, Croatia, French Canada, Africa, and the West Indies, in addition to a group of incomparable spirituals of the American Negro. The fourteen men and women vocalists made their bow in 1963 in New York City. The engagement was followed by a fifty city tour in the United States and Canada, where they were welcomed by enthusiastic audiences everywhere. Last season they again made a coast-to-coast tour, which proved to be such an overwhelming success that the group was again booked for a sold-out tour this season.

Cultural Series

Pianist, Andre Watts, highlighted Howard's 1965-66 cultural series where he appeared in concert at Cramton Auditorium, February 10. The young artist was one of six programs comprising the series.

The exciting young Negro pianist, who has been termed as "one of those special giants" by the great Leonard Bernstein, was born in Nvenberg, Germany, in 1946. He came to America when he was eight, and made his debut with the Philadelphia Orchestra a year later.

At 16, Watts performed the Liszt Concerto at a New York Philharmonic Young People's Concert. It was on the strength of that 1963 performance that Mr. Bernstein invited him to appear as soloist at two regular Philharmonic concerts, which were reported by Life magazine as receiving "the season's wildest ovation."

Mr. Watts first solo recital appearance in Philadelphia last April met with unqualified success. He has since performed with the National Symphony Orchestra of Washington, the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, and the New York Philharmonic at Lincoln Center.

Cultural Series

The Alvin Ailey Dance Theatre was featured in the third program of Howard University's 1965-66 cultural series.

The Dance Theatre, which consists of 11 young Negro dancers, combines modern dance with instrumental music, song, and acting techniques to express various themes or moods. The program at Howard ranged from the Talley Beatly's classic jazz ballet, "The Road of the Phoebe Snow," to the abstract study of loneliness in Anna Sokolows "Rooms". Two of Ailey's own ballets were also included in the program. They were "Roots of the Blues", which traced the evolution of the blues from the banel houses of New Orleans to the speakeasy era, and "Revelations", which employed Negro spirituals to tell the hope and despair of the American Negro.

Established by Alvin Ailey in 1958, the company has made several tours of colleges and universities throughout the United States, and has appeared in art festivals in both North and South America. In 1962, the Theatre made a successful tour of the Far East under the auspices of the U.S. Department of State. Then came three months in Australia, where its appearance was hailed as "the most stark and devastating theatre ever presented on the Australian stage". During the 1964-65 season, the company toured Europe, and was highly acclaimed by critics wherever it appeared.

William Warfield, distinguished American baritone, has been acclaimed around the world as one of the greatest vocal artists of today. Mr. Warfield is best known to audiences as the cripple of "Catfish Row" in George Gershwin's "Porgy & Bess". His major film credit was the role of Joe in the Jerome Kern — Edna Ferber classic, "Show Boat". It was in this film, on which he appeared with Kathryn Grayson and Howard Keel, that Mr. Warfield electrified audiences with his rendition of "Ol' Man River". So great is this singer's impact upon audiences that the State Department has, on six separate occasions, requested his services as a cultural Ambassador of the U.S.

Alpha Kappa Alpha, the oldest predominantly Negro sorority in the world was founded in 1908. Through the years an adequate and appropriate assignation to the theme of Alpha Kappa Alpha has come to be: Advancement through Knowledge and Action.

On the national level this theme has been realized via the avenue of providing job opportunities, scholarships, and training for youth. Further evidence of Advancement through Knowledge and Action is Alpha Kappa Alpha's program for voter education and first class citizenship.

Alpha Chapter has attempted to "cultivate and encourage high scholastic and ethical standards, improve the social stature of the race, and promote unity and friendship among college women . . ."

Programs held this year to implement these aims included a boat ride, service projects and the annual Pastel Ball.

Alpha Phi Alpha, the first Negro fraternity, was founded December 4, 1906 at Cornell University. Howard's Beta Chapter was founded December 20, 1907. Alpha Phi Alpha, then, began the high tradition of the social Greek-letter organization for Negro students.

The motto: "First of all, servants of all, we shall transcend all," has been the spur for the position of preeminence Beta chapter has held both nationally and locally.

Leadership is our duty, an assumption of the intrinsic responsibility felt by Alpha men everywhere. Beta chapter is no exception. An attempt was made this year to present the University community a diversified program blending the cultural with the academic and social.

The men of Beta chapter worshipped in the Chapel, played in the intramural games, discussed critical issues and partied — together.

Delta Sigma Theta Sorority is a national Greek-letter society having 275 chapters located in 37 states and the Republics of Haiti and Liberia. The organization was founded here at Howard on January 13, 1913.

The sorors of Alpha Chapter worked very hard to uphold and expand the high standards and ideals set by the founders. Activities were all geared toward the goal of dedication of the members to the ideals of scholarship, leadership, character, sisterhood and service for the betterment of both themselves and the University as a whole.

Deltas has an integral part in every facet of University life. The group noted with pleasure that its members held key positions on the Student Councils of two Colleges, and both the Homecoming and Christmas Week Steering Committees, took an active part in the planning and execution of the Student Leadership Conference, and received a certificate of appreciation from the U.S. Committee for UNICEF for their successful Christmas card drive. The election of five members to Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges was also viewed with favor.

Successful social events included a dance in the University Ballroom, "Agents Double-O-Soul, Starring Deltas Galore," participation in the Homecoming Talent show, participation in the annual Song Fest and the other activities of the Greek weekend, and the annual Crystal Ball.

Kappa Alpha Psi

In 1911, Indiana University gave birth to the fraternal bond of Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity, a group formed with an ultimate goal, purpose, and objective of ACHIEVEMENT. Since that time thousands of men, have pledged themselves to this Bond, attained their goal, and at the same time aided their fellow man.

At Howard University in 1920, Xi Chapter originated with the same basic ideal and concept, but with an additional view of contributing to the social, cultural, political, and historical significance of Howard University, as well as the individual student. This year Xi Chapter has made great strides in fulfilling its ideals. The noble men of Xi Chapter have always been foremost in the ranks of student leadership whether it be ROTC, Student Government, student publications, or athletics.

The fraternity sponsored a Kappa Serenade for Howard Women, the annual Autumn Fling, the successful candidacy of a member of their Sweetheart Court for Homecoming Queen, the Annual Christmas Party for Children, and the Annual Silhouette Ball.

Xi Chapter continually strives to live up to its motto: "It is easy to be ordinary, but it takes courage to excel, and excel we must."

The Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, Incorporated, the first social Greek organization at Howard University, was founded November 15, 1911. Since those days, the fraternity has grown from one chapter to 269 chapters in the United States, Canada, Germany, and Liberia, Africa. This year the men of Omega disseminated the spirit of Omega to all those with whom they came in contact. In addition to participating in almost all campus activities from Homecoming to the May Festival, they also presented their own program of social, cultural, and civic projects. Starting with the Homecoming activities in which the "Ques" won first place among campus organizations in the variety show, they launched into their program for the year which included: The Alpha Chapter Cultural Series with its theme, "Civil Rights in White America"; National Achievement Week activities; the annual Que — Kappa basketball game for the benefit of the campus community chest; the annual Playboy Party and Happy Que Year dances held in the University Ballroom; a series of coordinated social events with the Les Jeunes Hommes, a high school interest group, and the Alpha Zeta Phi National Jewish Fraternity; The Alpha Chapter Anniversary Party on December 15, commemorating the charter of the first Omega chapter; The National Omega Psi Phi Conclave in Detroit, Mich.; the fabulous Que Mardi Gras; the Talent Hunt program held in Rankin Chapel; the Omega Psi Phi Memorial Day Services, March 15; and their Queen's Coronation.

Zeta Phi Beta

Forty-five years ago, with the encouragement of Charles R. Taylor and Langston Taylor, members of the Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, Zeta Phi Beta Sorority was organized on the campus of Howard University.

The activities of Alpha Chapter of Zeta Phi Beta have been wide and varied this year. In addition to many service projects, the sorority gave its annual scholarship to an outstanding freshman woman.

Alpha Chapter plans to continue to uphold the ideals of Zeta Phi Beta Sorority.

J. Amaker, J. Owens, J. Milton, R. Pickett.

The first chapter of Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity was organized at Howard University on January 9, 1914. Since that time the Fraternity has expanded tremendously. There are now more than 190 chapters in the United States and Africa.

In keeping with our motto, "Culture for Service and Service to Humanity," the Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity carries on a three-fold program of Bigger and Better Business, Education, and Social Action. In addition to this three-fold program, two special annual observances are held: Carver Day and Founder's Day.

The Inter-Fraternity Council and the Inter-Sorority Council serve as co-ordinating groups for all social Greek-letter activities at Howard. Here groups can come together to discuss and "iron out" any problems that may occur. Under the leadership of Ralph Durham and Edna Anderson, respectively, these groups have made great strides this year. The Second Annual All-Greek Weekend was a success. Activities of the "Weekend" included a Game Night, a Dance, a Song fest, and a Greek College Bowl.

"The Howard Players is perhaps one of the oldest undergraduate producing organizations in the world". Founded in 1907, one of the immediate goals of the founders was to create a theatre that was to be the home of Negro playwrights interpreting the goals, the achievements, and the trembling position Negroes then held in society in America. Since that time the organization has grown tremendously and their fame has spread far beyond the shores of the United States.

The New Woman's Dormitory will be designed differently from any other building on Howard's campus.

With a capacity of 300, it will be broken up into living units of 7 girls each, with each girl having a separate room. There will also be a living room for all seven.

The idea for these "living units" came through the Dean of Students and a group of students who discussed the advantages and disadvantages of dormitory life.

Furnished living rooms, with semi built-in book shelves have also been proposed.

Also, there will be a reference library in the building.

The proposed date of completion and occupancy is September 1968.

Dorm Life

During the year various activities take place within the dormitory, directed and organized by the Dormitory Councils.

The enrollment of more than 8,000 students, the proposed twenty-four million dollar medical center, the addition of some one hundred new teachers, and the new classroom building and planned dormitories were cited by President Nabrit as he delivered his final address to the faculty and student body before leaving to assume his new duties as Deputy United States Representative to the United Nations Security Council. Dr. Nabrit urged his Cramton Auditorium audience to continue toward its goal of academic excellence and the even more important goal of bringing the blessings of democracy to all men.

Formal Opening

President James Nabrit (right) and Lorimer D. Milton, chairman of the board of trustees, lead the academic procession out of Cramton Auditorium.

After opening the 1965-66 school year with a stirring address at Cramton Auditorium, President Nabrit entertained members of the press in the Green Room. At this time, Dr. Nabrit also recommended to the University Board of Trustees the appointment of the Academic Vice-President Stanton L. Wormley as Acting President during his one-year absence from the University. Nabrit hailed Dr. Wormley as a dedicated scholar who would direct the programs and policy of the University aptly in his absence.

President Nabrit relaxes, after Formal Opening address, with Rayton Gerald (left), Hilltop reporter, and members of the Washington press.

Receiving the achievement award for Law and International Affairs, US Ambassador to Luxemburg, Patricia Roberts Harris, was the principal speaker at the Charter Day exercises held on March 2, marking the 99th anniversary of the founding of Howard University.

Ambassador Harris spoke of Howard graduates who were now leaders in their fields. She added, they make up "a small Who's Who of American leadership of which any institution would be proud."

Charter Day

Dr. Kenneth W. Clement, (class of 45), William K. Dupree (class of 51), Dr. Samuel Z. Westerfield, Jr. (class of 37), and Frederick D. Wilkinson, Jr. (class of 42) receive awards for their contributions in the areas of Medical Education, Music, Business and Public Affairs, and Business Administration, respectively.

Drs. R. Raskin, S. Baratz, N. Hung, D. Kousolas, I. Eames, N. Hare, D. Hammond, D. Spencer.

The Project Awareness symposium on Vietnam attracted nearly four hundred people to Cramton Auditorium. Students and faculty members alike listened thoughtfully as a selected group of instructors in departments such as Sociology, Economics, and Psychology aired their views on the United States' political tactics.

Moderated by Dr. Dimitrios Kousolas of the Government Department, the panel also included Dr. Hung, a new faculty member from North Vietnam.

Project Awareness

Mr. Robert Welch, in an appearance sponsored by the Project Awareness Committee of the Liberal Arts Student Council, addressed the Howard University community Friday, November 5 in Crampton Auditorium before an estimated audience of 1300 people.

Mr. Welch is president and founder of the controversial John Birch Society.

In his address, entitled "A Touch of Sanity," he described the United States as a vast insane asylum where the "worst patients run the place." He criticized American foreign policy and some high govt. officials. He further stated that, a path to collectivism and immorality is being tread by the people of America and that the people should recognize that their "only sure guide, moral principles" are needed to "bring back a Touch of Sanity."

Mr. Welch said that he chose to address the Howard community, for the goal for the John Birch Society is "to convince America of the truth" and "... to create sufficient understanding while there is yet time" "... of the force and deception" of the Communists in America.

Project Awareness Committee Chairman, J. Z. Daniels, moderates the discussion period.

Blizzard of '66

Because of the unseasonably high temperatures which had prevailed during the month of December and most of January, Washingtonians and Howardites had resigned themselves to what appeared would be a rather mild winter. However on January 26, during the course of seven hours, four inches of snow fell and as if that was not enough, before the snow removal crews could clear the streets, sixteen additional inches fell three days later. Bus service, taxis, newspaper delivery, the federal government, and even Howard, had come to a stop.

Students cast penny votes for their favorite "uglies".

The Backward 440 Relay (below).

Sprung Madness

Sprung Madness was originated in 1962 as a project to raise funds for the Community Chest. It not only provides for campus contributions, but for well organized and enjoyable entertainment for the students.

The week long event included the UBOC (Ugly Beauty on Campus), UMOC (Ugly Man on Campus) and UPOC (Ugly Pair on Campus), which are very popular contests. Students "voluntarily" enter the contests, and the University community selects their favorites by casting penny votes.

Other events include the "Line-of-Dimes" which is a new feature. Throughout the week, the students and faculty are able to deposit their dimes on a long board which runs adjacent to one of the long walks leading to Douglas Hall. The purpose is to line the board with dimes; the "Sick-O-Limp-iks", as the name implies, is a comic takeoff on the olympics. Members of the various campus organizations and groups of independent students participate in such "strenuous" events as the backward race, obstacle race and relays. The Sick-O-Limp-iks provide a means of relieving anxieties and tensions; as does the Marathon Dance in the Ballroom. The highlight of the week was a concert by the Ramsey Lewis Trio in Cramton Auditorium.

The jazz concert featured the Ramsey Lewis Trio.

Ever since soccer was introduced into the intercollegiate athletic program at Howard, we have never had a losing team. In fact, the Bison Booters, in 1962 reached the NCAA finals played at East Lansing, Michigan. This was after they had already captured the NSIA title.

The 1965 season was no different as the squad, led for the first time by coach George Williams, posted a 7-3 record and had two of its top players named to the All-South team. Nixon Asomani from Ghana and Quinton Worrell from Bermuda were selected on the basis of sparkling performances during a hectic season.

Losses to highly-ranked West Chester State and Fairleigh Dickinson and an upset at the hands of Elizabeth City College erased any hopes for a tournament berth.

JUST A LITTLE HARDER — Gary Lloyd (1), a stylish ball artist sends a tame shot towards the goal.

Basketball Team

The 1965-66 basketball season went right down to the wire, or the Bisons had to defeat Maryland State, Morgan State, and Virginia State within four days in order to secure a position in the C.I.A.A. tournament. Led by the high leaping center, Karl Hodge, the Bisons posted their second straight winning season. However, Hodge who was forever blocking shots and dazzling the crowd with his phenomenal jumping ability, was hampered by leg injuries. Also there was a change in the coaching staff.

These disadvantages did not deter this peppy squad. Guards Frank Williams and Ed Taylor kept putting the ball through the hoop and forwards Aubrey Allen and Aaron Shingler kept the defense honest. Shingler hit at a 18 point clip for the regular season, and Taylor and Williams followed closely, averaging around 16 points per game each.

Nevertheless, the Bisons put together their best season in many years, as they finished with a 9 and 5 conference record and a berth in the C.I.A.A. tournament. This is an honor accorded to only eight teams in the conference, and to Howard only once in the past 10 years. In view of the fact that there were only two seniors on the squad, the Bisons cagers have a good chance of repeating this feat. Coach Thompson and the team look forward to next season with due relish.

Bison captain Aaron Shingler grabs a rebound in the rough battle against Morgan State. "Shink", a third year veteran, is one of the top men in CIAA scoring and rebounding.

Ed Taylor, Howard's prolific jump shot specialist, moves in for a simple lay-up while captain Shingler looks on approvingly.

Versatile Eddie Richardson, whose crowd-pleasing drives have been a feature of many a Bison contest, goes in for another basket, leaving spell-bound opponents behind.

Basketball

Defense star Hodge watches his opponent slide to the floor as he snatches a loose ball from him after a tussle.

Basketball

Before the Howard Bisons meet their rival, Morgan State College, coach James Thompson issues last-minute instructions to his squad during the half-time interval. Coach James Thompson has had a most successful season since he began coaching the Bisons in 1962. This year the Bisons were defeated by Morgan at their first encounter with the team. As true to form, the Bisons sought revenge and rolled over Morgan to a thrilling victory at their final meet for the year.

Swimming

The 1965-66 swimming was typical in some ways and atypical in others. The Sharks enjoyed their typical success throughout the season defeating Hampton, J.C. Smith, and North Carolina A&T among others. Swimmers Byron Johnson, Eddie Johnson, Cohen Simpson and Len Lawson turned in consistently fine performances throughout the season. Divers Lafayette Jackson and Ron Frazier displayed their typical prize winning form. However, that was all that was typical about the season. Tom Myles, the 28 year old addition to the squad, turned in winning performances throughout the season. The performances were typical of Howard swimmers, but the age is not. The presence of Miss Sandra Arrington, a superb diver, to the team was not typical either. Miss Arrington is the first female member of a Howard University swimming team in the history of the school.

Both Myles and Miss Arrington were welcome additions to the team. More surprises like these two would not hurt the Sharks in the least.

With a mixture of talented freshmen and seasoned upper classmen, Coach Benjamin has developed Howard's grapplers into an outstanding team. Even without participants in the 191 lbs. classes we have a 5-2 won-loss slate to date. Those losses were to Millersville of Pennsylvania and Montclair State of New Jersey.

With Bob Lay 115 lbs., Greg Bolton 130 lbs., Bill Richardson 160 lbs., Don Scott 177 lbs., plus upper classmen Wales Nesbitt 195 lbs., Den Stewart 137 lbs., Reggie Young 167 lbs., and Les Johnson second time CIAA champ, 123 lbs., and Bill Lawson 152 lbs., we are shooting for a championship performance in the CIAA wrestling Championships.

Rifle Team

The 1965-66 rifle season was the final season for several things. It was the final season for Coach Mathis, and it was the final season that the squad was entirely male. Bernadette Maddox became the first female member of the squad in the history of Howard University. Coach Mathis in his final season led the Bisons to 12 victories in 18 shoulder-to-shoulder matches. Captain Benjamin Early along with Miss Maddox and Freddie Fletcher will return to help the new coach, George Williams in his first season.

The Howard University Crew Team was beset by problems before the season began. Several of the principle oarsmen were unable to participate and in addition the team has a new coach. However, the team has a nucleus of such experienced oarsmen as Bill Edmonds, Glen Dobbins, Ike Ridley, Don Johnson and Reggie Young. Hopefully, the drive and determination which has been demonstrated so far will be enough to produce a winning squad in spite of its handicaps.

Cross-Country

For the Bison Cross-Country squad, 1965 was as sad a year as any, as they failed to secure one victory in five attempts. Coached by former Michigan State high jumper, Wilmer Johnson, the thinclads, mostly freshmen, found the going too tough for victory.

Despite their gloomy predicament, the Bisons did find consolation in the performances of captain, Jimmy Hardeman who was undefeated for the season and culminated this display with a spirited run in the National Championships in Omaha, Nebraska.

Coach Johnson, whose two years at the helm have been rather disappointing, views the past as a building period and hopes that with the usual turn-out of freshmen and some budding sophomores ready for the grueling grind, the future will be brighter.

Student Assembly

The University-wide Student Assembly was formulated in February, 1961. The purposes of this organization are to provide for effective representation of the total student body on matters affecting University-wide student life, and to serve as a channel of communications through which student opinion, views, and suggestions may be discussed and acted upon by a representative body of students. The Assembly also nominates students to represent the total student body in intra — and extra — University-wide activities and to provide an avenue for effective student participation in the coordination of University-wide student activities.

This Year the Student Assembly has expanded its program immensely. It formulated the Student Leadership Conference in the fall, presented to the University community programs which included Peace Corps recruitment program, sending Christmas cards to American soldiers in Vietnam, a discussion on Black Nationalism, and the presentation of four Vietnamese students in an open panel discussion, and held elections for various University-wide activities. Currently the Assembly is actively helping to plan the activities surrounding the Centennial celebration.

In the future the Student Assembly plans to play an even more important and effective role within the University community so that the idea of more centralization in the student government will become a reality in the near future.

E. & A. Student Council

"Striving Toward Our Best Year Yet" is the theme of the Engineering and Architecture Student Council for the 1965-66 school year. Under the leadership of Mr. Benjamin Early, the E.A.S.C. has been highly successful in its endeavors. Included in this year's activities were the construction of a prize winning homecoming float, sponsoring of the E. & A. film program, participation in intramural basketball, participation in the Christmas Week activities, presentation of the E. & A. Open House, the annual Jazz and Technology Concert and Dance during E. & A. Week, and the E. & A. picnic and awards program in the spring.

Established in 1937, the main purposes of the E.A.S.C. are to provide responsible and effective student leadership, to provide an official vote through which student leadership and opinion may be expressed, to participate in decisions affecting the student body, to investigate student problems, and to share the responsibility for the well-being of the school.

The Liberal Arts Student Council

Presently the most powerful organization on campus, the Liberal Arts Student Council did a dynamic job this school year. Under capable leaders this organization astounded many faculty members as well as that part of the student body that is well informed of campus political activities. It can be said that the council prompted many in the administration into thought and action to better many of the on and about campus situations.

Pharmacy Student Council

One of the most rewarding activities in which one may participate at Howard University is the Student Council. Since the administration recognizes and encourages the right of the student to exercise initiative in the organization of student activities, the Pharmacy Student Council has become one of the more important student organizations in the University. This student council is responsible for presenting the students of the College of Pharmacy with many and various activities such as dances, picnics and lectures as well as providing the voice of the students to the University as a whole.

College of Medicine Student Council

Though the College of Medicine is a graduate school it has a representative body to express the opinion and needs of the students. The Student Council of the College of Medicine provides various lectures, cultural programs, and social events for the student body during the academic year.

The College of Fine Arts Student Council

The College of Fine Arts Student Council is one of the organizations in the College of Fine Arts that enables the students to communicate with the administration officials of the College. The student council is comprised of representatives from the three schools within the framework of the College of Fine Arts. The student council offers the students in Fine Arts many concerts, recitals, lectures, demonstrations, and exhibitions. The Fine Arts Student Council is an essential part of the Fine Arts student activities.

THE STUDENT ASSEMBLY OF THE SCHOOL OF RELIGION

The Student Assembly serves three purposes. First, it serves as a clearing-house for business matters which effect the student body. Students are given a chance to participate in this democratic assembly by expressing themselves on the issues which must be decided upon by the student body.

The second purpose of the Student Assembly is to bring the students body and the faculty of the School of Religion together where they engage themselves in dialogue and discussions. The scope of the discussion include such topics as social and political issues, and current theological issues. To add to the variety of this occasion the program committee recruits outstanding lecturers, scholars, and students to contribute to the discussions.

Third, the Student Assembly provides a means of recreation for the students and the faculty of the School of Religion. Programs are planned to provide an opportunity for everyone to get together and relax.

College of Dentistry Student Council

The purpose of the organization is to act as the voice and agent of each and all students in relations with the faculty and administration; and to initiate a variety of programs for the enjoyment and benefit of all students.

The activities sponsored by the Student Council for the first semester are: Freshman reception during freshman orientation week in September; the Turkey Trot during the Thanksgiving holiday; and a Christmas Dance. The second semester activities include: The Sweetheart's dance for Valentine's Day and an annual spring picnic.

As the governing body in the School of Nursing, the Student Council plays a leading role in assisting in establishing and carrying out the various programs and activities for the students. During the school year it has been instrumental in sponsoring such activities as a trip to the New York World's Fair, distribution of food baskets to needy families and participating in various community projects particularly those sponsored by the Community Services Project and the American Red Cross.

H-BOOK

Created to inform the incoming freshman of Howard tradition and policy, the H-Book now serves as an indispensable aid to the entire university community. Under the guidance of a regular editor and staff, this book is modified and updated each year to include such pertinent material as a short history of the organization of the university, the Alma Mater, campus organizations and activities, and a capsuled view of campus life. Because of its wide circulation and informative subject matter the H-Book has grown each year to its present position as an index of information for the university resident.

PROMETHEAN

The Promethean, now in its fourth year of publication, is the official literary magazine of the Howard University student body. It is published under the auspices of the Liberal Arts Student Council, but is open to contributions from the entire student community. The Promethean provides a medium for student expression with its only bias being a decided preference for careful and thoughtful critical writing.

The association keeps its members abreast of developments in their home territories. The Caribbean Association also does joint projects with People-to-People for various presentations to and around the university community.

Homecoming Steering Committee

One of the biggest events of the year is Howard's Homecoming. This week of events is full of excitement, fun, and creative activities. Responsible for the planning and execution of this mammoth activity is the Homecoming Steering Committee. Drawing its membership from among the university-wide community, this committee begins operating in the spring and continues into the first semester, culminating only after the last tired, alumnus and undergraduate has left the final event of Homecoming week.

Graduate Economic Club

Galloway, Lloyd G., Program Chairman; Mathew, Thomas, Secretary; Walker, Barrington A., President; Singhal, Prem L., Treasurer.

Graduate Economics Club

The graduate student of economics is encouraged to participate actively in all areas of life that assist in his studies. These areas may include outside political work, but should also include membership in the Graduate Economics Club. Though a generally new organization, having been established in September, 1963, this club greatly assists in the graduate program of the economics student.

Economics Club

To promote a wider understanding of the problems of our society is one of the goals of the Economic Club. The members of this organization meet once a week to discuss and offer suggestions for improvement in the various fields of economics. These discussion periods are often supplemented by lectures and programs.

A.W.S.

Every woman student at Howard University is a member of the Association of Woman Students. Since it is the governing body for all women on the campus, A.W.S. has the responsibility of setting up and enforcing standards of conduct for the female enrollment. The Association sponsors cultural, social, and various other activities on campus designed to enrich not only the club's members but the entire University Community. Women's Week and Mother-Daughter Weekend are the associations' largest projects. In this organization, Howard women have the opportunity to affiliate with similar organizations on other campuses.

Angel Flight

Angel Flight is an honorary service organization of national scope. Those who enter the Flight share a three-fold responsibility: to further the cause of the United States Air Force by promoting the interest of the college man in the AFROTC program, to aid in the progress of the men in the Arnold Air Society, and to serve as a symbol of appreciation for the importance and dignity of Air Force Life. At this University, the Flight Commemorates its beginning on November 4, 1959.

Angel Flight of Howard University has the distinction of being the Area Headquarters for Area B1 (one) which includes fourteen schools.

Angelite Pledge Club

On November 19, 1965, the twenty-six candidates for Angel Flight were inducted. The ceremony culminated the pledge period during which time the twenty-six pledges of the Angel Flight, or Angelites, were oriented to the purposes, operations, and the responsibilities of the Flight. The service projects for the Angel Flight Pledge Club included making rifle covers for the Andrew D. Turner Drill Team and visiting the Merriweather Home.

Angelites — C. Thomas (Asst. Dean of Pledges), J. Payne, M. Berkeley, R. Smith, G. McCray, B. Bland, I. Morton, J. Shepherd, M. Wright, S. Bruce, B. Stuart, D. Henderson, S. Brookins, K. Clark, S. Adams, K. Ballard, C. Oney, B. Johnson, P. Johnson, E. Frazier (Dean of Pledges).

Walter H. Brooks Baptist Fellowship

The Walter H. Brooks Fellowship is a Christian Organization for Baptist students at Howard University, but its meetings are open to the public. They seek to cultivate better moral and ethical standards among the students. They sponsor fellowship and recreation, encourage student participation in various campus activities, cooperate with other denominational on-campus bodies, maintain a counseling service through the baptist chaplain, conduct a communion service each first Sunday at 9:30 A.M. at the Baptist students house and encourage regular church attendance.

YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION CLUB

Since its beginning, the newly formed Young Men's Christian Association Club has been in the process of laying a firm foundation for an effective tutorial program in select high schools in Washington, D. C. Thus far, representatives of the club have actively participated in programs and weekend conferences at American University, Southern University, Maryland State College, and John Hopkins University.

Presently, the Young Men's Christian Association club has a membership of seven students, whose majors range from accounting to physics. These men visit, once a week, various high schools in the Washington, D.C. area, and tutor students in English, mathematics science, and foreign languages.

Carver Hall T & A Staff

The Carver Hall T & A Staff is a group of men selected by the head resident on the basis of scholarship and leadership abilities. These advisors are of invaluable academic help to the other residents, and the group is able to give help in most of the course in the undergraduate school.

The Carver Hall Council

The Carver Hall Council elected annually, functions as a body that gives the residents an opportunity to participate in the direction of hall activities. It helps the men, through the planning and coordinating of activities to develop their faculties, intelligence, sense of leadership, and self-respect.

H. Lunan, L. Dixon, Sec., R. Waters, Pres., D. Brewer, R. Nettles.

Cook Hall T & A

The Cook Hall T & A men serve as guides to the men of Cook Hall. These upperclass Tutors and Advisors are chosen each year by the Cook Hall Head Resident to assume their positions the following year. Chosen on the basis of high scholarship and leadership abilities, the T & A men are greatly respected and admired by their fellow students.

Cook Hall Council

The purpose of the Cook Hall Council is to plan, in co-operation with the residents, the programs and activities which are conducted by the dorm.

These activities include participation in Homecoming and Christmas decorations, supporting a candidate for Homecoming queen, dances, cultural programs, a community service project, and an Annual Open House.

First semester activities included raising funds for U.G.F., supporting a candidate for Homecoming queen, a leadership conference panel discussion, and Thanksgiving and Christmas dances.

During the second semester a more intensive program was conducted. Among these activities were a weekly Activities Night, several dances, Jazz concerts, panel discussions, and a community service project.

As a final to the years activities, the Annual Open House was held. It was entitled "In the Spring a Young Man's Fancy Turns To . . .!!"

The Drew Hall Council

The Drew Hall Council, consisting of thirteen elected officers representing the ideas and wishes of its fellow residents, is a duly elected organization under the advisement of the head resident. The council has the sole duty of planning the programs and activities for the dormitory.

The activities for the first semester were limited and concentrated on the winning of three first place trophies, two during Homecoming and one during Christmas Week. These trophies were won for the best house decorations and best car decorations.

The first semester was also highlighted with a reception for the queen of Drew Hall and her Court. The reception was the first event of the school year for the men of Drew, but it paved the way for the remainder of the school year.

The first semester was climaxed with a series of lectures on topics including English and Social Science. Drew Hall has also entered three basketball teams in the intramural league.

The second semester will be highlighted with a Spring open house, several dances, Service projects, lectures and an intramural program within and between dormitories.

Slowe Hall Council

The Slowe Hall Council plans in the interest of the residents of Slowe Hall and other University students. Its activities provide information and entertainment for the women of Slowe as well as producing a feeling of unity between Slowe Hall women, other students, and the University teaching and non-teaching staff.

The calendar for the school year thus far has included Mr. E. Goodman, Director of Public Relations at Howard; A Peace Corps Public Relations Program; a Women's Army Corps Recruitment Program; a City Sister Party; A Christmas Party and two concerts in the "After Dinner Music Series".

In addition to the above activities, Slowe has initiated a tutorial program, a student-faculty program and volunteer service in the community.

With the many activities already planned, the members of the Slowe Hall Council are looking forward to a successful and enjoyable school year.

Blue Ribbon Committee

The Committee on Student-University Relationships was formed as a result of the Student Leadership Conference held at the beginning of the school year. Its purpose is to "provide a medium of communication between student leaders, faculty members and administration that would enable certain clarifications to take place by discussion," according to Mr. G. Fredrick Stanton, Secretary of the University.

The first meeting was held on December 14, and was chaired by Mr. Stanton. At this meeting, the functions of the committee were decided and it was further organized. Mr. Sanford Cloud, Jr. was elected Vice-Chairman and Dean Carl E. Anderson, Secretary.

The "Blue Ribbon Committee", as this new committee is sometimes called, brings together University-wide ideas. It is made up of faculty members, administrators and student representatives which provide a channel to communicate with the students. In this way faculty and administration are made aware of student ideas and the students in turn get information about present administrative policy, practices, and procedures.

Mr. Stanton said for the members of the committee, "we believe that this can be one of the most constructive developments in the life of the University, not only for this school year but in an on-going way."

ALPHA PHI OMEGA

Alpha Phi Omega is distinguished from the other fraternities on campus by its primary purpose; service. This service is rendered in four general areas — to the nation, community, campus and chapter.

APO is represented at Howard by Zeta Phi chapter, founded May 29, 1948.

Last year the Brothers contributed more than 2200 man-hours of service and spent more than $800 on behalf of service.

Recently, Zeta Phi has sponsored and participated in the following projects: Twenty-five orphans were bussed to the New York World's Fair in May, 1965, the APO Emergency Loan Fund of $150 was set up for the use of any and all students, the Holiday-Trans-Service provides reduced-cost transportation home for students to New York, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh. APO is also responsible for the distribution of all campus publications. Zeta Phi operates the Lost and Found service, posts all posters from the Office of Student Life and mans voting booths for student elections.

The Fraternity also participates in intramural sport competition and this year won the championship in the fraternity league flagball (touch football) competition. Officers are: President: Bill Keene, 1st Vice-Pres.: James D. E. Jones, 2nd Vice-Pres.: James R. Cowan, Jr., 3rd Vice-Pres.: Cleveland A. Christophe, Treasurer: Theodore Capus, Jr., Corres. WHO'S WHO

Who's Who Among American Universities and Colleges

A. M. Auld

Who's Who was begun thirty-two years ago with the double purpose of providing recognition to worthy college students and to provide a reference for outstanding prospective personnel for employers. Throughout the years this purpose has remained the same, though more schools now participate.

University officials at the various colleges are entirely responsible for the students who are selected to be included in each year's Who's Who list. In most cases, a committee, composed of faculty, administrative officers and students consider a great many candidates, but make their final selection on the basis of scholarship, leadership, campus activities and service to the school and others. In addition to the student's qualities, he must also be a member of the Junior or Senior class or a Graduate student registered at a degree-granting institution which meets the requirements of the organization.

A key emblem of gold or silver is the symbol of this distinguished selective honor.
